Volvo drivers from the UK and Netherlands participate in major safety studv

India Infoline News Service / 17:15 , Jun 29, 2010

The aim of the project is to gather information on how truck drivers behave in various traffic situations during their daily work, and to study how they are assisted by the truck's on-board safety systems.

EuroFOT (European Field Operational Test) is an EU project that brings together 28 European companies and organisations. The aim of the project is to gather information on how truck drivers behave in various traffic situations during their daily work, and to study how they are assisted by the truck's on-board safety systems.

This will be done both by filming the drivers and also by logging certain vehicle signals such as speed. A total of 30 Volvo trucks will be driven in regular daily operations by the two haulage firms over a period of one year. Five cameras in each truck will register everything that takes place in and around the vehicle.
